You want to know if I'm lying, want to check what I said
Does a laugh show up on your polygraph in red?
Never fear your meal is here, but you still gotta swallow your bread
Words alone never made me moan, you gotta get past the head.

You've got all the answers, tell me now what would you do?
You've got all the answers, what are you looking at me for?

Now you've got me all sewed up, you read my nervous twitch.
I hate to say it was planned that way but it was, stitch by stitch.
I'm a faker, I'm a masquerade, I can even fool myself
I'm an interactive video, I'm a lazy susan shelf

And I'm spinning around
Serving up what you asked for
So what are you looking at me for?

You've got all the answers, tell me now what would you do?
You've got all the answers, what are you looking at me for?

And your words they don't sound very nice
I had better leave without thinking twice
I had better leave, exit stage right

You've got all the answers, what are you looking at me for?
You've got all the answers, tell me now what would you do?
What are you looking at me for, I'm serving up what you asked for.
You've got all the answers, tell me, what would you do?
