

I tried everything
Just to ride upon your wing

A summer breeze, you come and go

I must have blinked, I must have blinked
When you passed through.

I walked right through your pain
Like a child in the rain

A summer shower, you quickly pass

You change your mind so easily
Yes you do, yes you do

I hardly notice, I hardly care
When you do, when you do

I looked away, and you were gone

I must have blinked, I must have blinked
When you passed through, passed through
